Head of Department

National Forensic Centre (NFC), Swedish Police Authority

FROM THE ORGANISER

Welcome as a Partner or Exhibitor at the 9th European Academy of Forensic Science Conference

In 2022 the biggest European forensic science event, the European Academy of Forensic Science Conference (EAFS), will take place in Stockholm, 30th May–3rd June.

The triennial event is organised by the National Forensic Centre (NFC) of the Swedish Police Authority under the patronage of the European Network of Forensic Science Institutes (ENFSI).

The motto of the conference is “Together for a Safer World” indicating encouragement to cooperate in order to meet future expectations on the forensic community. The event will focus on transformation of forensic science due to new technical possibilities and new categories of crime that need innovative forensic approaches to generate results that will benefit the judicial process. This can be facilitated by combining knowledge from different areas of expertise. Since technology develops with an accelerating speed, it is essential to keep the issues of quality, competence, human factor and social responsibilities on the agenda.

European forensic practitioners, scientists and stakeholders related to the forensic community but also EU agencies, academia, industrial partners and international organisations will be invited to join the event.

The participants come from the European and International forensic communities. As a partner and exhibitor it is a great opportunity to raise awareness and knowledge about your products and services.

More information about the Conference is and will gradually become available at the conference website www.eafs2022.eu.

For more detailed information about ENFSI, please visit the ENFSI website at www.enfsi.eu.

The Swedish National Forensic Center, NFC website can be found at www.nfc.polisen.se.

We look forward to your participation!

ABOUT EAFS 2022

Themes

The program will comprise a number of themes that will drive the conference, and challenge and inspire the delegates:

1. Technology Transformation
2. Digital Transformation of the Forensic Process
3. Forensic Data Science
4. Forensic Human Factors
5. Forensic Social Responsibility

Conference Tracks

Content “tracks” are intended to be well recognised by forensic practitioners. The tracks are as follows:

Digital Evidence	Statistics
DNA	Management
Chemistry & Trace Evidence	Medicine & Toxicology
Pattern Recognition	Legal & Ethical Aspects
Scene of Crime	European Perspective

Management Day

Management of the forensic process is a topic that, at previous EAFS conferences, has shown to be of great interest to both managers and forensic practitioners. The forensic community needs to share results from projects and “best practice” related to the management of casework processes as well as research and development. This exchange of knowledge is beneficial for all managers since the requests from users of forensic results is in constant change and increasing demand, due to new types of crime or new policies within law enforcement. Examples of this could be effective case handling routines, communication strategies with the end-user of forensic results or handling requirements concerning quality assurance.

Directors Forum

The 1st June, will start with a special session for directors, from forensic science service providers, both European and international. The session starts with a breakfast meeting, followed by presentations that have been selected to give ideas and inspiration to the directors in their everyday work. The Directors Forum will end with lunch. In the afternoon, the directors will join the rest of the Conference.

European Day

The Conference will have a European Day, facilitating the possibility to learn about developments and results from forensic projects accross Europe, many that are partly financed by the European Commission or self- financed. Furthermore, the plan is to have workshops, oral presentations, posters as well as panel discussions and presentations. During the European Day, special focus will be given to initiatives taken by the EC and ENFSI and also planned future R&D within the forensic sector.
